INDIAN SCIENCE CONGRESS ASSOCIATION (ISCA)

Indian Science Congress Association (ISCA) has its origin to the foresight and initiation of two British Chemists, namely Professor J. L. Simonsen and Professor P. S. MacMohian. Its first meeting was held at Kolkata in 1914. For the advancement of science in the country this is biggest scientific body. Scientists and researchers can present their findings in 14 different sections of Annual session held every year during 3rd-7th January. Form this modest beginning with hundred and five members and thirty five papers communicated for reading at the first session, ISCA has grown into a strong fraternity with more than forty thousand members. There are 25 ISCA local chapters which started organising popular science lectures in different centres in India from 1962-63. The scheme envisages constructive work for the popularisation and advancement of science throughout the year. One of the major objectives of the ISCA is to inculcate the scientific temper among the people and to encourage young scientists to grow up steadily in this direction.

ABOUT THE SEMINAR

Rural development is the process of improving the quality of life and economic well-being of people living in rural areas. Education, entrepreneurship, physical infrastructure, and social infrastructure all play an important role in developing rural regions.

There has been remarkable development in education, communication, agriculture, industry etc. the global economic output has increased 17 folds in the 20th century. In spite of the advancements in almost all sectors, still the world is not free from hunger, disease, pollution, illiteracy and poverty. The gap between the rich and the poor has widened. By the 21st century, with the right applications of research, development, and implications of science and technology a major difference could be brought about.

Modernization in every aspect of life is the greatest example of the implementation of science and technology in every nation. With the introduction of modern gadgets in every walk of life, life has become simple and it has been possible only because of implementing science and technology together. The role that science and technology has played in improving the life conditions across the globe is vivid, but the benefit has to been harvested maximum by all countries.

Development of India and development of Science in India, both require that we focus on giving the methods of Science and Technology to our vast population that are lives in villages. This being the focal theme of 107th Indian Science Congress. ISCA Jaipur chapter is organized a two day seminar cum exhibition on the focal theme “Science and Technology:Rural Development”. The participants will include U.G. level students, participants for exhibition from schools and invited speakers on focal theme. The seminar will provide an opportunity to academicians, professionals and researchers to exchange views on the role of "Role of Science and technology : Rural Development."
