About the Seminar

Sustainable development means to “fulfill the present needs without compromising the needs of future generation.” Mahatma Gandhi’s philosophy and teachings are the best example of sustainable development for world. In the words of Mahatma Gandhi, “Earth provides enough to satisfy every man’s need but not any man’s greed.” His concept of sustainable development is a holistic one which urges for all round development of individual and society in relation with nature. Mahatma Gandhi carries ethical vision in which the individual is at the centre of development. Gandhi ji believed that only inward change can have the way for outward change. He stressed on a judicial shift from the consumer society to the conserver society. With the vision of sustainable development Gandhi ji wanted to achieve Sarvodaya -the welfare of all. He focused on community centre approach towards sustainability and emphasized on 'betterment of human life' and 'ensuring fulfillment of basic needs of all human needs.

Department of Lifelong Learning (DLL)

With the purported aim of expanding the frontiers of knowledge and extending the institutional resources to the community DLL conducts short term training courses, workshops, seminars, summer schools, capacity building and skill development programmes etc. throughout the year. The department organizes programmes which are need based, flexible, catering to the diverse needs of small and large segments of people.

DLL has been successful in reaching out to large sections of society, especially the marginalized and disadvantaged, through varied interventions and capacity enhancement endeavours. It has been instrumental in conducting sensitization and awareness programmes regarding universal literacy, gender justice, HIV/AIDS, environment conservation, e-learning, sanitation, entrepreneurship development etc. Special thrust remains on capacity building, leadership skills, personality development, stress management, career counselling and guidance programme for youth. DLL also develops teaching learning, instructional, training and promotional material as part of providing academic/technical support to different programmes. DLL has engaged in conducting English language teaching classes in rural areas, government schools and urban slums for the needy and poor and e-learning for senior citizens and deprived sections of society. Collaboration and support for various activities and programmes are solicited from of university departments, colleges, NGOs, and resource centres of National Literacy Mission Authority.

Social Sciences Research Centre (SSRC)

Social Sciences Research Centre of the University of Rajasthan was established on 11 Oct. 1975 by Prof. Iqbal Narain, an eminent social scientist. The main objective of the centre is to import greater scientific vigour to research activities and promote interdisciplinary perspective particularly in the realm of Social Sciences. Interdisciplinary collaboration involves exchange of information among related disciplines in the belief that such exchanges enrich a discipline's understanding of the phenomena understanding. As an important institution of conducting research, we plan to develop it as research resource centre to provide basic information regarding carrying out scientific interdisciplinary research.
